

Promotions announced for Richard Cook to Vice President & Territory Manager for Houston and Lynn Tomlinson to Vice President & Territory Manager for Corpus Christi.

May 5, 2003 (PRWEB) Houston, Texas. PetroChem Inspection Services announced today that Richard Cook has been appointed Vice President and Territory Manager for PetroChem's Houston Operation and Lynn Tomlinson has been appointed Vice President and Territory Manager for Corpus Christi. PetroChem's President, Shelby Morris, said "Both of these individuals have contributed to the success of our company and it gives me great pleasure to recognize their ability and service to our customers."

Richard Cook has been Manager of Advanced Technology Services for PetroChem since 2000 and prior to that served in a variety of capacities for SGS Industrial Services, a predecessor firm acquired by PetroChem in 1999. He holds multiple technical certifications and is well-known throughout the inspection industry for his expertise in ultrasonics.

Lynn Tomlinson has served as PetroChem's Site Manager at the Flint Hills Refinery in Corpus Christi for the past two years. He was formerly a shareholder and officer in The Inspection Group, a company acquired by PetroChem Inspection Services in 1999. Lynn has a long history in the inspection business and has managed inspection projects worldwide.

PetroChem Inspection Services is a provider of inspection services primarily to the petrochemical industry with specialized expertise in mechanical integrity and non destructive testing.
